APPRECIATION

by Robert Burton House '16
Chancellor, University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill

This volume, appropriately dedicated to the memory of Cornelia Phillips Spencer (1825-1908), also is a tribute to the thoughtful affection for Alma Mater of James Lee Love (1860-1950), who endowed the Cornelia P. Spencer Alumni Fund with a handsome gift to the University on May 7, 1943.

"It gives me great pleasure, as an alumnus of the Class of 1884," Mr. Love wrote, "to make this gift as a memorial to Mrs. Cornelia Phillips Spencer, whom I knew intimately over a period of twenty-five years—her last years—whose character, personality, and self-denying good will won my increasing respect and affection."

The story of Mrs. Spencer has delighted thousands of alumni and North Carolinians. Two delightful biographies of her have been published by the University of North Carolina Press: Mrs. Hope S. Chamberlain's Old Days in Chapel Hill (1926), and Phillips Russell's The Woman Who Rang the Bell (1949). This year also there has been published the Selected Papers of Cornelia Phillips Spencer, edited with an introduction by Louis Round Wilson.

Mrs. Spencer was largely responsible for the compiling of the Alumni Catalogue, which contained the names of all former students "from the beginning to 1889." For a significant period in the University's life Mrs. Spencer was an Alumni Records Office, an Alumni Office, and an Alumni Association all combined in one. Her role in keeping aflame the interest and energy of the University's "old boys" during the days of Civil War and Reconstruction is a story well known. She was a principal figure in the reactivation of the University in 1875. The institution has enjoyed uninterrupted operation and advancement since then.

The story of Mrs. Spencer's untiring zeal and loving labor in gathering and compiling records of the alumni is perhaps less widely known. James Lee Love, who married Mrs. Spencer's daughter, saw this facet of her work. It was in their home that "the woman who rang the bell" lived for many years—first in Chapel Hill and later in Cambridge to which Mr. Love went as a member of the faculty of Harvard in 1894.

Mr. Love wrote to me in 1943 about this side of Mrs. Spencer's manifold service in the University's behalf. "Ever since I saw Mrs. Spencer working laborious days and weeks in our home on Franklin Street, Chapel Hill, on the first edition of the 'Catalogue of Officers and Students of the University,' my interest has been keen for its maintenance and perpetuation. This edition was prepared for the Centennial of 1889. President Battle said in his introductory note: 'For the following Catalogue the University is chiefly indebted to Mrs. Cornelia P. Spencer, of Chapel Hill, who has been employed upon it for several years, giving much time and pains to the work.'"

Seeing the great value in gathering and recording "family Bible" data about sons and daughters of Alma Mater, Mr. Love in one of the University's Sesquicentennial years generously and thoughtfully provided endowed financial aid in issuing at periodic intervals continuing editions of alumni directories. The war years and succeeding unsettled conditions have postponed until now the publication of the Alumni Directory of 1954, a volume in line of succession to earlier rosters.

Running through the thoughts and practical efforts of Cornelia Phillips Spencer and James Lee Love is the vital idea that the significance of the University of North Carolina is primarily in her sons and daughters. It is evident throughout these pages that they reside and work in literally every portion of the globe. So rapidly do they move here and there in their lives and working that constant changes are needed daily to keep their addresses accurate in the Alumni Records of the Alumni Office at Chapel Hill. A primary aim of this volume is to record where alumni are now living and to stimulate in all sons and daughters of the University a desire to keep the University informed of their whereabouts and actions and to keep in touch with each other.

One thing is manifest through the years: that University alumni love to meet together whether in Pittsboro or Honolulu. This volume, in addition to expressing in its dedication appreciation to its founders, is a labor of love in that spirit of loyalty and affection which would sound the South Building Bell and the sentiments of Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices in the hearts of all of Carolina's sons and daughters.

FOREWORD

This volume may be considered as the third edition in a series of all-alumni rosters to be published by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. An Alumni Catalogue, compiled largely through the efforts of Mrs. Cornelia Phillips Spencer, was issued in 1889 in the year of the University's Charter Centennial Celebration. Thirty-five years later—in 1924—a "second edition" titled Alumni History (1795-1924) was published. That volume undertook to include certain biographical data as well as the current addresses of alumni.

The present volume, which includes names of former students also listed in the earlier directories, brings the series up to date through the graduation of the Class of 1953.

The 1924 edition was issued at a time when the total number of former students—living and deceased—was 15,000. The 1954 Alumni Directory lists 61,877 individuals altogether, including both living and deceased, graduates and other ex-matriculates. Recipients of honorary degrees, both former students of the University and others, likewise are included. Cross references to show maiden and married names of alumnae as well as variations in names of alumni boosts the aggregate number of listings in this book to more than 68,500.

The great increase in "alumni population" during the past two decades dictated the decision that the present volume would be an address book and directory rather than an alumni record in Who's Who style. To have included biographical data about each former student, as the 1924 edition attempted to do, would have required four volumes the size of this book. Also, it would have been necessary to circulate questionnaires among all former students and collate the data received in reply with the records of the Alumni Office. That process would have delayed the publication further.

Records of individual alumni, including addresses and biographical data, have been maintained systematically and regularly in the Alumni Office during the past three decades. A function of the Alumni Office has been to maintain on addressograph stencils a mailing list of all former students for uses of the University and the Alumni Association. Address changes are constantly in process of being recorded. There is no day when the list is the same as the day before. Nor is it ever completely up to date.

However, during the year 1952-53 the alumni mailing list had been used frequently in connection with the launching of Alumni Annual Giving and with the program of the University's Development Council. In the year there had been a number of first-class and second-class postal mailings to all alumni with listed addresses. The Alumni Office thus had had opportunity to check the accuracy of its addresses and to make literally thousands of corrections.

So, when the schedule for the Alumni Directory was projected a year ago, it was felt that there was no need to send out a special mailing to ask alumni for addresses and information to include in the directory. The master file of the Alumni Office included an individual card for every former matriculate from Hinton James (the first student, who arrived in Chapel Hill on February 12, 1795) to the latest matriculate. This list became the basic source of material for the directory.

The actual work of preparing copy for printers for this Alumni Directory got underway in August, 1953. Typists were busy for the next three months copying the names, degrees, addresses, etc. to be edited and made ready for the linotype. The printer was supplied with copy at the rate of five thousand names each week during a period of three months. The names had been carefully checked and many instances of incomplete data was remedied by investigation or research.

Carbon copies of the sheets edited and submitted to the printer for typesetting were held in the Alumni Office and as address changes occurred in the master file during the months the work was in process, changes were also made on the duplicate copies of the original sheets. When submission of copy had been completed, the printer began the "paging" of the galleys of names. Proof pages were submitted to the Alumni Office for another careful round of proof-reading and for the purpose of entering hundreds of changes in the master file that had occurred since August. Final proofing was completed in March and the press work began in order to meet the publication date of Commencement, 1954.

This recitation of the "assembly line" story is made to suggest the complexity of collating and publishing the data recorded in this book. In many instances there may be incomplete and incorrect information. It is regrettable that additional data could not be included, such as names of parents, place and date of birth, career as student at the University including fraternity affiliations, further graduate or professional studies with degrees received at other institutions, names of spouse, professional or business connections, etc. It would have been desirable to have occupations indicated. But in addition to the multiple space requirements, there would have had to be a complete questionnaire canvassing of the entire alumni list and a much more complex research job established.

Perhaps in a later volume further biographical material, including at least occupations, can be included in a companion directory. Some institutions, particularly in the East, issue "address directories" periodically at intervals of five years or more. With the assistance provided by the late James Lee Love '84 in establishing the Cornelia Phillips Spencer Alumni Fund, the University looks to the publication of alumni directories periodically in the future.

Mention should be made of the "moving" spirit of former students of the University. They change addresses in large numbers. The preponderance of living former students have attended the University since the outbreak of World War II, and changes of address among these "younger Carolina men and women" offset the stability of "older alumni" whose addresses remain more or less constant. There is an "address turn-over" of approximately 30 percent annually. Add to this consideration changes of title, rank, married name, and even family names in many instances—and you'll see that "correct today, wrong tomorrow" may well be said of any segment of the list of more than sixty thousand names.

Obviously, listings of alumni by counties, towns, states, and countries would be out of date even before the book could be printed. It was decided to omit such a section in this book. Listing by classes also poses problems when compared with less complex periods in the University's life. Perhaps listing alumni by the several schools and colleges with class lists recorded in each would be more useful.

Whatever its shortcomings, the 1954 Alumni Directory is herewith submitted as a roster of former students from 1795 through 1953. There are 61,877 of you—83 percent living. Living in North Carolina are 60 percent, according to latest addresses. And half of you now living have been at the University in classes graduated in the past ten years. (See Statistics, page xviii and following!)

Running through the entire Alumni Directory is the Chapel Hill story. From the senior alumnus listed and through the most recent fellow in the Class of 1953, there is a golden thread binding Chapel Hillians together in a common experience, in the heritage of rich traditions handed from one student generation to another, and in loyalty to an Alma Mater whose service to State and Nation is best exhibited in the combined accomplishments of those who have in their time been campus citizens in residence.

* * * *

Substantial contributions have been made by many in the preparation of this Alumni Directory.

Foremost is the inspiration and challenge inherent in the establishment and endowment by the late James Lee Love '84 of the Cornelia Phillips Spencer Alumni Fund. Mr. Love, as an alumnus, expressed in many ways his deep affection for the University. It was principally through the precedent set by him in 1934, when the Class of 1884 of which he was President invited to its 50th anniversary banquet at Commencement all alumni of older classes, that the group known as the "Old Students Club" was organized. Nine years later, in 1943, Mr. Love endowed the Cornelia P. Spencer Alumni Fund for these two-fold purposes:

(a) to pay the costs each year of the annual reunion dinner, or banquet, of the Senior Alumni, now known as the "Old Students Club" and consisting of all Alumni of the University at Chapel Hill who have reached or passed the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation years;

(b) to pay the costs, or to be applied upon the costs, of the maintenance and publication of the "Alumni History of the University of North Carolina," in continuation of the series whose first edition was prepared by Mrs. Cornelia P. Spencer and published in 1889, and whose second edition was prepared by Daniel Lindsay Grant and published in August, 1924. The form and content of this "History" in its successive editions, are not herein prescribed; but its regular appearance at intervals of about five years is urgently requested; and its sale to the alumni and to the public at a price for each copy not exceeding the actual cost of publication is recommended.

The Alumni Office is grateful to many former students who consistently give notice of changes in their address and others who from time to time supply upon request information concerning addresses and other data about their fellow alumni. To hundreds of class and local alumni association officers who check and confirm lists sent to them oftentimes, the Alumni Office is grateful. Even though the roll cannot here be called, I wish to acknowledge our gratitude to them.

To administrative officials of the University and others whose patience and understanding in considering the difficult task of record-keeping, particularly during the chaotic days of World War II and the unsettled years thereafter, a deep sense of gratitude and special acknowledgment is hereby expressed.

To thousands of former students, deeply interested in the affairs of the University and whose support of the General Alumni Association has assisted in the maintenance of an enriching program of alumni activity in the University's welfare, appreciation is extended. May the publication of this Alumni Directory be received by them with the joy and inspiration calculated by James Lee Love in his projection of plans for periodic directories.

* * * *

At the risk of omitting names of persons to whom further particular acknowledgment is due, I am singling out for particular attention several persons whose untiring efforts have gone into this volume. Iris Boddie (Mrs. Samuel T.) Habel of Chapel Hill joined the Alumni Office staff shortly after the work of preparing material for this book was begun. As "director of production" Mrs. Habel has worked unwearyingly at myriads of data in confirming, checking, and proofing countless detailing of facts. Nelle Andrews, long a member of the Alumni Office staff, constantly has been of invaluable assistance in tracing down infinite details to the end that this Directory will be a more accurate book.

To all others of the Alumni Office staff and to members of the University of North Carolina Press and of the Development Council office due acknowledgment gratefully is made of assistance rendered.

May this Alumni Directory be a source of information and pleasure to those who use it.

GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRIBUTION OF LIVING ALUMNI WITH KNOWN ADDRESSES OF RECORD AS OF 1924, 1928, 1944, 1948, AND 1953

Five "inventories" of mailing lists of the Alumni Office are shown in the first five columns on this page and other pages that follow—distributed by counties within North Carolina and by other states. In the sixth column are figures showing the number of students enrolled in the University in the fall semester of 1953-54.

The figures given in the first five columns show the number of alumni whose addresses on file in the Alumni Office as of the year indicated were considered to be correct. The tabulations provide the basis for interesting comparisons in the growth of "alumni population" during the past thirty years. Subtitles in italics are shown in the tabulations for certain cities. In these cases the figures cited are included in the totals given in the respective counties and states.

Honorary degrees conferred by the University are indicated as such and names of recipients are included in this Directory in alphabetical order.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Listed in this book are all former students in regular sessions of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, 1795-1953, including both those who received degrees and other ex-matriculates.

The asterisk (*) indicates that the former student is deceased. If died, killed or missing in action or service (usually during one of the nation's wars which the date will suggest), it is indicated as follows:

d in action
k in service
m in service
d in service

The dagger (†) indicates that the address listed is one from which mail has been returned. Address changes occur in approximately 30 percent of the total mailing list during a year and the mailing lists of the Alumni Office are constantly in process of revision.

Wherever practicable, this Directory lists all names in full. Names are arranged alphabetically according to the surname, and under identical surnames according to the initials. If the initials are identical in two cases, first names are arranged alphabetically. Where full names and initials are identical, they are arranged chronologically.

Surnames beginning with Mc precede all M's. Mac's are arranged alphabetically.

Surnames beginning with St. are arranged as if the prefix were spelled out Saint.

Surnames containing the prefix Van or van; Von or von are arranged alphabetically under the letter V.
